NOTICE

Vada L. January, whose place of residence is unknown and cannot be ascertained, will take notice that on the 1st day of May, 1936, the plaintiff, Eldred W. January, filed his petition against her in the Court of Common Pleas of Marion County, Ohio, the same being Cause No. 21397 in said Court, for the partition of certain real estate in said petition, described as follows:

Situated in the County of Marion, in the State of Ohio and in the Township of Claridon and bounded and described as follows:

Being part of the west half of the southwest quarter of Section number thirty-six (36) in Township number five (5) South Range number sixteen (16) east, commencing at a point in the west line of said Section, which point is one hundred and thirty-seven (137) feet northwardly measured along said west line of said Section from the southwest corner thereof and which point is the northwest corner of the certain tract of land about a quarter of an acre in area, out of the southwest corner of said section now occupied by the Evangelical Church; thence northwardly along said west line of said Section number thirty-six (36) aforesaid, five hundred and twenty-four (524) feet and one (1) inch to the southwest corner of what is known as the grave yard lot; thence eastwardly along the south line of said grave yard lot, one hundred and twenty-seven (127) feet to the southeast corner thereof; thence southwardly on a straight line five hundred and twenty (520) feet and six (6) inches to the northeast corner of said church lot and thence westwardly along the north line of said church lot one hundred and thirty two (132) feet and eight (8) inches to the place of beginning.

Said premises are a part of the same premises conveyed by Michael Click and wife to Benjamin F. Fox and Elizabeth Fox by deed dated March, 1919, and recorded in Volume number one hundred forty-four (144) at page three hundred and ninety-three (393) Deed Records of Marion County, Ohio, and are the same premises conveyed by the said Benjamin F. Fox and Elizabeth Fox to said The Beach Telephone Company by deed dated April 11th, 1919, recorded in Volume one hundred and forty-four (144) at page five hundred and six (506) of the Deed Records of Marion County, Ohio.

The prayer of said petition is for the partition of said real estate and for other equitable relief. Said defendant is required to answer said petition on or before the 20th day of June, 1936, or judgment will be taken against her.

ELDRED W. JANUARY, Plaintiff.
By Wilhelm & Robinson, His Attorneys.

NOTICE

In the Court of Common Pleas, Marion County, Ohio. Case No. 21417.

In the matter of the Prospect Street M. E. Church of the Lima District, of the Ohio Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Notice is hereby given that on the 13th day of May, A. D., 1936, the Prospect Street M. E. Church of Marion, Ohio, filed its Petition in said Court, in Cause No. 21417, asking authority to sell the following described real estate:

"Situated in the County of Marion, in the State of Ohio, and in the City of Marion, and bounded and described as follows: Known as Lot Number two thousand five hundred and sixty-one (2561) in T. P. Wallace's First Addition to said City. Said lot being 72.36 feet wide by 142 feet long."

The sale of said real estate is prayed for, for the reason that said property is no longer used for church or parsonage purposes, and for the further reason that it will be for the benefit of said church to sell the same and pay the indebtedness incurred on account of the improvement of the residence on said real estate, and to obtain money to buy a new and better property, as the new need for parsonage purposes. Said cause will be for hearing on June 15th, 1936, at 9:00 o'clock A. M.

PROSPECT STREET M. E. CHURCH, a corporation, not for profit.
By C. A. Krautter, President of the Board of Trustees.
John B. Clark, Attorney.

FOUR EXECUTED IN SING SING PRISON

PUBLIC ENEMIES

There just isn't any excuse for the Wrong Lane Turner!

He's the motorist who doesn't make up his mind that he's going to turn until after he's reached the intersection—and then suddenly attempts to cross in front of other moving cars. No warning signal—no brains!

Good drivers prepare for a turn in advance by getting in the left-lane of traffic for a left turn and in the right lane for a right turn. Simple isn't it? Yet many accidents happen because motorists "forget."

BLACK LEGS BLAMED IN FLOGGING OF 11

17 Indicted and Freed Under Bond in Kentucky Mountain Area.

By The Associated Press

SALYERSVILLE, Ky., May 28—Whippings of men and women in this mountain section were blamed by officials today on a hooded order known in the community as the "Black leg."

Seventeen men, indicted on charges of confederating in connection with the flogging of nine men and two women, are at liberty under bond awaiting trial at the September term of Magoffin circuit court.

At the trial of two of the defendants at the April term, which resulted in hung juries, they were referred to in the testimony as "black legs."

Commonwealth's Attorney Earl R. Cooper of Salyersville said today, "From evidence given at the examining trial, before the grand jury and at the April trials it appears that the Black legs are organized along essentially the same lines as the Black legion. Several of the witnesses testified that the leader selected a secret number of men whom he designated as Black legs whose duties he said would be to clean up things. I have no definite information as to a connection between the black legs and the black legion."

REPUBLICAN OPPOSES COSTLY WORK RELIEF

Wants Projects Dropped and Direct Aid Given Nation's Unemployed.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 28—A Republican demand that more costly relief be abandoned in favor of direct relief for the unemployed opened senate debate today on the administration bill carrying $1,425,000,000 for continuing the works progress program.

Son. Hale of Maine opened his party's attack on the $2,369,000,000 deficiency bill as Democratic leaders pushed everything else aside in an effort to rush the measure to a final vote by tomorrow.

Hale contended the spending of more than $3,000,000,000 a year by the new deal had proved the theory of "priming the pump" was a failure. He called for a curtailment of expenditures, and an effort to speed up private industry in an effort to bring back prosperity.

As soon as he finished the senate began voting on committee amendments, sweeping toward the bigger issues in the measure.

Nothing apparently stood in the way of quick action on the long disputed $2,300,000 measure with the possible exception of a move to add an amendment to authorize new surveys of the Florida Ship canal and the Passamaquoddy tide harnessing project in Maine.

Democratic chieftains had not decided whether to offer this proposal as an amendment or press for separate action, in view of Republican threats that it would bring prolonged debate.

SLAYING SUSPECT HELD FOR JURY

By The Associated Press

HAMMOND, Ind., May 28—Manacled and heavily-guarded, Harlan Crouch, Indianapolis rum-runner, appeared here early today before U. S. Commissioner S. C. Dwyer and waived preliminary examination in the slaying of John R. Foster, federal alcohol tax unit agent.

Dwyer bound Crouch over to the northern Indiana federal grand jury and ordered him held in jail without bond.

U. S. Marshal A. W. Hodinski and a deputy, Frank Hogan, took Crouch to jail at South Bend to await the grand jury session. The marshal also obtained custody of James Jacobs, alleged confederate of Crouch and took him from the Laporte jail to South Bend.

LAUNCH MOVE TO SOLVE PROBLEM OF WPA HERE

WPA operations; Miss Violet Curtice, supervisor of women's and professional projects; Miss Estelle Cornell, district supervisor of WPA employment; E. R. Walcott, Marion county WPA engineer; Mayor F. C. Smith, Councilmen W. M. Fabian, Robert H. Stief, Hayes Rogers and Harry D. Cahill, County Commissioner Weire, Service Director John V. Ruth, City Engineer Tom S. Cathers, F. C. Gegenheimer, clerk of the city board of education, W. D. Brown, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, Arden Miller and Guy Stotz from the county surveyor's office, Mrs. Jennie Crane, supervisor of the WPA sewing center. Others there included local business and professional men.

Mr. Haylor pointed out that there are 2,123 persons, representing that many families, certified for WPA work in Marion county. Some families have as many as four employables. Of this number only 350 are now employed on projects.

Among plans suggested as a possible solution to the WPA situation were a manual training project to convert unskilled laborers into skilled workers so that they may be absorbed by private industry and enterprise, county ditch projects, a city bond issue, county-wide gasoline tax, assessments against property owners, solicitation of funds from the public, and enlisting the aid of various civic organizations and service clubs.

City Engineer Cathers suggested a city bond issue as the only feasible solution to the problem here. If we do not get busy and raise funds to finance the cost of materials for this work the government funds will be allocated to other communities and Marion, although it bears its share of the cost of federal government, will be left out in the cold, Mr. Cathers declared. He suggested council take immediate steps to issue bonds and "go along" with the WPA program.

Mayor Smith objected to the issuance of bonds. He said that while the city has not reached its bond limitation it is inadvisable to do so. We must have a reserve for emergency purposes, he declared.

Ditch Projects Out

County ditch projects cannot be carried on under the WPA program, the group was told last night.

WPA will not take projects on private property, F. R. Nicklas, district supervisor of WPA operations, explained. Washington will not approve this type of work because more than 90 per cent of such projects are classed as private property work.

A countywide gasoline tax suggested was discredited because people would buy their gasoline in surrounding counties. A suggestion that a city automobile tax be passed was carried over for further consideration. It was explained that a WPA worker suggested that those employed on WPA projects contribute $2.50 a month from their small salaries toward a fund to finance the cost of materials.

Public Solicitation

Another suggestion was that property owners on streets where street repair projects are under way be assessed or solicited for funds to finance those projects. This suggestion probably will be studied by the civic committee to be appointed.

R. T. Lewis inquired about the feasibility of starting vocational or manual training classes to train men for better positions in private industry. F. C. Gegenheimer, clerk of the city board of education, explained that those coming out of vocational classes now are unable to obtain employment. Mr. Nicklas pointed out that many common laborers are becoming more skilled daily on WPA projects. He said that if a man shows aptitude for a certain branch of work everything possible is done to give him more instruction and help him to become more skilled in that work.

Mr. Nicklas declared that the federal government has spent more than a million dollars on work projects in Marion county and that there is little to show for it. He pointed to the Harding High school stadium, the city schools administration building and a few street and road projects as the only really constructive accomplishments of the program here. There is not a situation in any other county in this WPA district of 10 counties that equals the one here, he asserted. He said there are more men here eligible for WPA projects and not at work than in the rest of the district. About 24.5 per cent of the WPA load in this district has been absorbed in private industry, he said. The number absorbed in Marion is far below that average, he added.

It was suggested that something might be done to stimulate interest in the WPA sidewalk project in the business and residential districts. The project calls for relaying walks, with the cost of materials to be borne by the property owner or business place. It was pointed out that the project has brought few applications from residents and business places. Some residents have had the sidewalk work done in front of their homes, but little has been done in the uptown district.

Mayor Smith called attention to the gravity of the relief and WPA situation here. He recalled the failure of the 3.2 mill tax levy in the May 12 primary. The city did its best to raise additional revenue and the voters turned us down and I can't see what more we can do, he said.

All tax spending bodies should be placed on an equal basis, he asserted. The county is operating on a 100 per cent basis and the schools on a 100 per cent plus basis, while the city is struggling along on a 45 and 50 per cent basis, he declared.

City Faces Other Problems

The city is facing a crisis in the relief and works program situation, in the fire and police departments and other functions and the matter of placing the other tax spending bodies on an equal basis with us should be called to the attention of the public, Mayor Smith said.

Mr. Lewis suggested that a committee be appointed from the tax spending bodies to meet with the county auditor and consider a possible transfer of funds from one body to another to equalize the available money. No action was taken on this and it was suggested that it be brought up at a later date.

Several present suggested that the city and county take over their poor relief problems without government help as was done prior to the depression. Mr. Haylor pointed out that no other community in the country has been able to do this and that Marion is not getting along now even with the state and federal help it is receiving.

Service Director Ruth suggested that various civic organizations and service clubs take over the sponsorship of WPA projects and raise the necessary funds through solicitation and other means to carry them on.

Others who joined in the discussion last night included F. E. Guthery, George Whysall, Karl Schell, Mrs. Crane, the councilmen present, Mr. Weiss and Mr. Millisor.

Mr. Whysall made a motion that the group go on record as voicing its appreciation of the WPA program and a hope that it will continue. This was backed up by a unanimous vote.

Included in the second section will be Commander Layton and his staff, members of Cooper Post, colors and drum corps, speakers and veterans of the Civil war, Gold Star mothers, widows of veterans and disabled veterans of all wars.

Parade Moves at 1:30 p. m.

All organizations will report to the chief of divisions by 1:15 p. m. and the parade will move promptly at 1:30 p. m., going east on Center street and south on Main street to the cemetery. Military organizations will be in squad formation except when passing the reviewing stand. Parking will not be permitted along the line of march, at points of assembly nor at the intersection of Church and Main streets.

After the exercises the parade, excepting the schools will reform, march north on State street to the southwest corner of the post-office and pass in review. Should the weather be inclement the services will be held at Epworth M. E. church, the committee announced.

The program at the cemetery will open with an overture by the massed bands and the invocation by Rev. H. D. Halderman, pastor of Fite Memorial Baptist church. C. H. Howard will read General Logan's order of May 5, 1868, creating Memorial day, and Lincoln's Gettysburg address will be given by J. W. Llewellyn. These will be followed by the singing of "America" and the salute to the flag by the assembly. "In Flander's Field," will be recited by Mary Jane Llewellyn, and the main address by Attorney General Bricker will complete the program.

Instead of going to the Legion plot as in former years the audience will remain at the speaker's stand for the firing of a salute over the graves of the World war veterans and the sounding of taps by Parks Kennedy of Bird McGinnis Post No. 163, American Legion. Members of Troop No. 5, Boy Scout patrol, sponsored by the post, will form a line from the speaker's stand to the Legion plot and will relay the signal for the firing salute, following the benediction by Rev. Halderman. Captain H. L. Taylor, of Company D, 166th Infantry, Ohio National Guard, will be in charge of the firing squad.

No one will be seated at the cemetery until the veterans' organizations have been placed. Organizations will be seated in the following order: Civil War veterans, and auxiliaries, Spanish American war veterans and auxiliaries, and World war veterans and auxiliaries.

SIX PERSONS KILLED IN CROSSING CRASH

Two Children, Three Women and a Man Victims of Mishap Near Chicago.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, May 28—Six persons were killed today when the inbound Logansport local of the Pennsylvania railroad struck an automobile in suburban Calumet City.

The victims were two children, three women and a man. At a Calumet City undertaking establishment where the bodies were taken it was said no underlying marks had been found.

The crossing is protected by a flasher signal, railroad officials said.

The bodies of a woman between 30 and 40 years old and of a girl about three were the first taken to the undertaking rooms. The other bodies were badly mangled and determination of ages was difficult.

The automobile bore Illinois license plates, but they were so crushed they could not be read, the police said.

KNOX CLAIMS NATION FACES MAJOR CRISIS

Says Decision Will Determine Preservation or Loss of U. S. Institutions.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 28—Final pre-convention stump activity among Republican candidates for the presidential nomination today held the attention of political observers.

Col. Frank Knox, Chicago publisher and presidential candidate, spoke last night in his home city, saying "we are in the midst of a fundamental crisis that will determine the preservation or loss of American institutions."

He declared that the Republicans would need the support of 2,000,000 "patriotic Democrats" to "defeat the subversive Washington faction."

The party, he said, must champion "a true liberalism."

New dealers, with their convention choice all settled in advance, continued to hold their fire for the time being, with prospects that the battle will begin to get hot soon after the Republican nomination is made.

The Republican national committee, in an appeal for support from citizens, issued a statement saying "the gulf between the fair promises and the reckless deeds of Mr. Roosevelt is wider than that of any other administration in the history of the republic."

BLACK LEGION PROBE DEFEATED IN SENATE

gated relief administration in Allen county (Lima) last year.

Charles J. Skill, Claud L. Recker and Hubert J. Schwartz, the three investigators, reported they were informed that the organization was "suspicioned of the threats against Gov. Davey's daughter."

Refers to Threats

Although he did not order an investigation, Gov. Davey said a year ago that the presence of guards with his daughter on several occasions was occasioned by threats against her.

The investigators said that meetings of the legion usually were held "from 1 a. m. until daylight, in an open field in the country."

"We obtained the statements of two men who had been officers of the organization," the investigators said. "They told where the meetings had been held, and said one of the leaders bragged about burning down Twin Oaks roadhouse (near Lima) and that he was ordered to burn another roadhouse."

The investigators said William Smith, 55-year-old Waynesfield farmer, was beaten because he was unwilling to join the organization. They also charged to the legion the seizure of a motion picture film from a Lima theater, the beating of a man and the instigation of an union strike in northwestern Ohio.

Beating Investigated

At Wooster, O., Sheriff Bert Naumng said he had assigned a member of his staff to investigate the beating of Aaron Yoder, a farmer, four months ago to determine whether the Black legion was involved.

Prosecutor Alvin F. Welchel of Erie county said he had authoritative information that there are members of the legion in Sandusky and throughout the county. In numerous other Ohio cities, including Cleveland, police were asked to watch for any Black legion activities.

The governor's daughter married Alexander Smith of Kent, O., last October and they have been residing there.

Davey Denies Threat Report

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 28—Gov. Murlin L. Davey of Ohio today said he "never heard of such a thing" as Black legion threats against his daughter.

A state legislative committee in Columbus reported the organization was suspected of threats made against the governor's daughter, now Mrs. Alexander Smith of Kent, O., a year ago.

"There never were any real threats that appeared bona fide," the governor told newsmen.

U. S. May Probe Black Legion

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Mich., May 28—The Black legion, which guarded its secrets with scourge and pistol and boasted that it could mobilize millions of armed men in 24 hours, faced the possibility of federal as well as state investigations today.

The "mobilization," Prosecutor Duncan C. McCrea said members told him, was to be ordered in the event of a communist uprising.

In Washington, Attorney General Homer S. Cummings indicated he would decide today whether acts of terrorism attributed to the night riders in more than a dozen states justified intervention by the federal bureau of investigation.

Calls for Inquiry

Before congress was a resolution introduced by Rep. Dickstein, Democrat of New York, requesting a committee investigation of the Black legion, among other organizations.

In Detroit, the Wayne county circuit bench planned to decide whether to order the grand jury investigation asked by Michigan's Attorney General David H. Crowley of violent deaths, floggings and firing of buildings in the metropolitan area.

In Cleveland, police reopened their investigations of two unsolved deaths after an anonymous telephone caller had blamed the Black legion.

In Pontiac, Mich., a citizens' committee undertook an investigation of reports ascribing two deaths, a flogging, and the burning of homes of at least two suspected communists to a secret organization similar to, if not affiliated with the Black legion.

Mobilize in Short Time

"They said their leaders told them they could mobilize their forces in Michigan in 51 minutes, and that within 24 hours they could have their entire membership over the country under arms," Prosecutor McCrea said.

If all of the Black legion units, organized along military lines, are at full strength, McCrea said, the Black legion has 135,000 members in Michigan.

V. F. Effinger of Lima, spokesman for the national organization of the legion, claimed a total membership of 6,000,000 the country over.

Attorney General Crowley expressed skepticism of the reported strength of the order. Evidence in his possession, he said, indicates between 5,000 and 20,000 members in Michigan.

Tells of Letters

Prosecutor McCrea said he had received letters from persons in 15 or 18 states, among them Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Illinois, and Colorado ascribing acts of intimidation or violence to the robed and hooded order.

Upon those letters he based his appeal to United States Attorney General Cummings late yesterday for a federal investigation.

In Jackson, Mich., Justice of the Peace Ernest J. Rogers resumed his "John Doe" inquiry into at least two floggings, one of them followed by death of the victim; of an incendiary fire, and of reports that many guards in the state prison of southern Michigan were members of the order.

At Detroit, the court examination of 12 Black legion members accused of the slaying of Charles Poole, that brought the organization into the limelight, was in adjournment until next Tuesday.

PORTSMOUTH STRIKE SHOOTING REPORTED

Wife of Closed Steel Plant Employe Tells of Slugs Hitting Window of Home.

By The Associated Press

PORTSMOUTH, O., May 28 — Union and company officials concentrated efforts on avoiding any violence at the strike-bound Wheeling Steel Corp. plant today as a special squad of detectives investigated an attack on the home of a steel plant employe.

Mrs. Oscar Cropper, wife of the employe, reported to police that shotgun slugs, fired from an automobile, shattered a window in her house. She said she and her daughter were showered with glass, but not hurt.

Both factions in the strike, which has closed the plant here and made 5,500 employes idle, denied responsibility for the attack. One man has been severely beaten in the course of the strike and a score of others slightly injured.

Both sides continued to hold firm as P. M. Pilington, federal labor conciliator, sought to arrange a conference to bring company and union officials together. Nearly 300 office workers and company police have remained inside the plant since the strike was called Friday by the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers.

The association claimed that the company had refused to bargain with the union under the terms of the national labor relations act.

Al Bridwell, former Scioto county sheriff who is serving as a special deputy at the plant, pleaded innocent yesterday when arraigned on a charge of shooting with intent to wound. He was bound over to the grand jury.

Bernard McCardle, striker, charged that Bridwell and guards under him fired at a group of strikers from a company train.

NOTED EDITOR PLEADS FOR U. S. DEMOCRACY

Tells Graduates To Stick to Freedom Which Nation's Institutions Enjoy.

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURG, Kas., May 28—William Allen White, noted Emporia editor and author, sounded a plea to youth of the land today to "stick to" the Democratic form of government and avoid "the threat of economic security without liberty."

"There are only two kinds of government in the world," White told Pittsburg State Teachers college graduates in a commencement talk, "only two."

"One kind of government in which the people govern themselves, reasoning it all out with free speech and in parliamentary debate.

"The other kind of government herds the people about by ukase, by proclamation, by supermen, by minorities seizing power and defying the majority."

Although the "menace is abroad in the world" America now is immune from the "threat of economic security without liberty," he said, but "it is in the air."

Rogers was taken into custody near Marion, after he drove his car into a ditch and struck a fence, the patrolmen said. The car was only slightly damaged.

STEEL LEADER RAPS POLITICAL CONTROL

Eugene Grace Denounces Bureaucracy and Asks Tax Cut Before Institute.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 28—An attack on attempts to extend what he called political control over business and a plea for lower taxation were made today by Eugene G. Grace, president of the American Iron & Steel Institute, in opening the spring meeting of the trade organization.

Approximately 1,500 leaders of the industry from all parts of the country gathered to discuss various problems, including foreign imports, labor relations and technical developments.

"While business generally has shown improvement," Grace, who is also president of Bethlehem Steel Corp., said, "progress toward sound and permanent recovery is being seriously delayed by continued experimentations and failure to recognize the proper functions, needs and accomplishments of business and industry.

"There is no question but that public opinion desires a strong government protecting the general welfare against raids or rapacity of any group, but strong and efficient government does not mean bureaucracy interfering with or seeking to direct all the details of life and the lawful conduct of commercial and personal affairs."

Discussing taxes, Grace said whatever progress industry is able to make toward lower costs and prices is in a large measure being offset by increased taxes, "which is an inevitable result of governmental regulation and control."

LANDON DENIED COUGHLIN HELP

Priest Says He Will Not Support Kansan for Presidency.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 28—Rev. Charles E. Coughlin's apparent friendliness to the Republican nominee, made in a statement released to the New York Times suggesting a Republican ticket "in whom I could have complete confidence," was interpreted to some extent in New York Times published interview with Coughlin in which the priest said he would not support Alf M. Landon of Kansas for president.

Coughlin is reputedly far in the G. O. P. nomination. Cleveland convention delegates and leaders are talking about a party choice.

Fights New Deal

The Times quoted the radio priest as saying he opposed the New Deal rather than President Roosevelt and that if Roosevelt and Landon were the nominees of their parties he would concentrate his energies on congressional elections and wait until 1940 before trying to influence the presidential fight.

Calls Rooseveltism "Ruinous"

The earlier statement in the Sun, telegraphed from Father Coughlin's home in Royal Oak, Mich., in answer to a query from the Sun as to whether he intended to help form a third party ticket in the presidential race this year, made it seemingly impossible that he could support President Roosevelt.

"A renovated Republican party," telegraphed Coughlin, "possessing a contrite heart for its former misdeeds and an honest standard-bearer in whom I could repose complete confidence are all that are necessary to convert this nation from ruinous Rooseveltism."

Wants Inflation

The qualifications put by the priest would be still for the G. O. P. and any candidate it may nominate, when it is remembered that Father Coughlin broke with the present administration because it would not go along with him for silver inflation, mortgage reduction, and nationalization of the banks. Presumably any Republican candidate for president would have a hard time going with Coughlin on these.

The Sun telegraphed Father Coughlin asking whether his recent activities indicated he would help start a third party ticket this campaign. His reply follows:

"Royal Oak, Mich., May 27.

"I have not been in favor of the new deal, which to my mind tends toward bureaucracy, dictatorship and extreme socialism.

Wants Congress to Issue Money

"I have constantly advocated the cleansing of capitalism by restoring to the congress the entire issuance and regulation of all money and credit, the payment to labor of a living annual wage, together with guaranteeing to the farmer production at a profit.

"These three principles have not been considered favorably by the new deal which prefers the policy of deductionism and the establishment of doles, at the expense of inordinate taxation through the issuance of bonds.

"These bonds, together with their interests, have reached the point under our present financial system where they are unpayable, with the result that the most heinous species of uncontrollable inflation is facing the entire nation.

"Further than having given expression to these opinions, I have not contemplated the launching of a so-called third party. A renovated Republican party possessing a contrite heart for its former misdeeds and an honest standard-bearer in whom I could repose complete confidence, are all that are necessary to convert his nation from ruinous Rooseveltism. Otherwise the re-election of Roosevelt is inevitable, with the result that our liberty will be likewise exploited.

"CHARLES E. COUGHLIN."

LEVY LEAGUE LISTS CAMPAIGN EXPENSES

$333.13 Spent in Effort To Put Over City Tax of 3.2 Mills.

The City Financial Respectability league, organization formed to finance the futile campaign to put over the 3.2 mills city levy at the May 12 primary, has filed an account with the county board of elections showing expenditures totaling $333.13.

All of the amount expended, according to the report, was received by the league in contributions. Virtually all of the money was used for advertising. City Solicitor Ralph E. Carhart filed the account.

Several more candidates have listed their expenses with the board of elections since the list was last published a few days ago. Paul Naher reported having spent $55.99 in his successful bid for the Democratic nomination for county recorder, and Tom F. Cowan, unsuccessful candidate for the same office, spent $40.37.

William R. Curren, unsuccessful candidate for the Republican nomination for clerk of courts, lists his expenses at $31.78. Charles L. Almendinger, in his unsuccessful bid for the nomination for county commissioner on the Republican ticket, spent $7.39.

Candidates reported having no expenditures were Cecil R. Leavens, unopposed for the Republican nomination for county surveyor; Leo J. Cusick, unopposed for the Democratic nomination for county commissioner, and James H. Kelly of Mt. Gilead, district delegate to the Democratic national convention.

Beauty and Beer Create Quandary for Liquor Board

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 25—Ohio's state liquor board considered with mixed reactions today the insistence of brewers that beauty, as portrayed in feminine advertisements, boosts the beer business.

In response to an informal ban by the board on pictures of scantily-clad women in outdoor advertising, Jesse M. Joseph, Cincinnati advertising agency operator, declared that the modern trend was towards artistic nudity, and that such a prohibition would "be an injustice to women who want to drink beer."

Charles Koerber, Toledo brewer, said, "women drink almost as much as men. Besides, women put color and life into advertising."

"If we could not use women in advertising, it would tend to make beer a product for men only," commented Joseph.

In an informal debate with Board Chairman George Eppley, Joseph added that he felt the drapes on the statute of liberty "make her look terrible."

Eppley and board member Wellington T. Leonard agreed that the board should have an opportunity to pass on beer and liquor advertising.

Mrs. Edith McClure Patterson, only member of the board, insisted that all pictures of women and children be forbidden in beer advertisements.

The fourth member, John Tompson, suggested, prohibition merely of the lewd and lascivious in advertising.

A final decision was held in abeyance.

2 FLIERS CRASH IN WYANDOT CO.

One Hurt After Leap at Low Altitude from Falling Craft.

TIFFIN, O., May 28—Lieut. John E. Albert, 38, of Columbus and his pilot bailed out to save their lives just before an army airplane crashed late yesterday at Deunquat, a Wyandot county town 12 miles south of here.

Lieut. Albert is in Mercy hospital here with a dislocated shoulder, received when he landed in a field two miles from the wrecked plane.

He was under an anaesthetic in the hospital last night and could not be questioned about the accident.

His pilot, also an army man, whose name was not immediately learned, remained at Deunquat with the wrecked plane.

Residents at Deunquat quoted the men as saying the motor of their plane had been smoking but that they thought they could reach Tiffin or Toledo. Motor trouble increased and the plane began losing altitude.

They jumped out at a low altitude, it also was said. The plane landed in a field near the New York Central railroad tracks and was so thoroughly wrecked, farmers said, that identifying marks could not be read.

The two men were on their way from Detroit to Columbus.

BORAH BALKS G.O.P. PLAN FOR GOLD RESTORATION

Expected To Explain His Monetary Stand in Speech Tonight Over CBS Net at 7:30.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 28—The prospect of dispute over the monetary plank in the platform was added today to convention uncertainties confronting the Republicans.

Sen. Borah of Idaho challenged the recommendation by five organizations of the party in New York for restoration of the gold standard.

The Borah currency protest was drawn forth by a proposed plank recommending a dollar "convertible into gold at a rate subject to change only by congress." Whether the Idahoan would add this question to the anti-monopoly issue which he is expected to press especially at Cleveland went unsaid for the present. Party leaders awaited his speech tonight for indications of his course.

While expecting him to assail the old guard leadership again, friends indicated they did not look for mention of any other candidate for the presidential nomination by name. The speech, Borah's last before the convention, will be over the Columbia Broadcasting System at 7:30 p. m.

To make the currency again convertible into gold, Borah contended, "would be especially hurtful to the agricultural interests of this country."

The proposal for return to the gold standard was contained in the platform offered for party consideration Monday by the National Republican Club, Inc., the New York Athletic Club, the Woman's National Republican Club, Inc., the National Republican Builders, Inc., and the Young Woman's Republican Club of New York.

Six New York state delegates to the Republican convention from Erie and Niagara counties announced today they would "favor" Gov. Landon of Kansas for the nomination for president.

Wait until you've heard the verdict of your own keen senses—once you've put foot to the gas treadle and piloted this car awhile for yourself!

Wait until you've heard this beauty's reassuring murmur as you head it up a tough grade, or listened to its soft, unlabored purr as it crawls along through traffic.

Pie Eating an Art

A Marion dentist is especially fond of pie for breakfast If accosted about it he'll tell you he inherited the complex from his grandfather who seldom failed to include a generous cut of pie in his breakfast menu

There are ordinary pie eaters and then there are persons to whom pie eating is an art The dentist commented as he made inroads on a piece of apple pie at a Marion restaurant during the breakfast hour recently

Take my grandfather for example he continued He liked geometric designs and to him the pie was only one way to eat a piece of pie He'd take a knife and fork use of the fork alone left ragged edges and spoiled the design and the fork alone would come off the point that formerly had been the center of the pie Then he'd cut off one of the crust corners and eat it following it with the other crust corner He'd keep cutting off the corners making uniform changes in the appearance of each side of the piece of pie until a small piece remaining in an attractive design would remain as the last bite

The "Law" Waits

Patrolman Bert Powell sat in an automobile parked in front of a no parking sign several days ago and many of the passers by wondered if he was simply making himself comfortable until the person who parked it in the forbidden area returned for a reprimand and possibly a traffic ticket

How this offender handled the situation when he returned to the car was not learned but the incident called to mind the ruse attempted by a Marion man several years ago when he returned to his automobile and found a traffic ticket tucked under the windshield wiper He reported to police that his car had been stolen and started a hunt that ended in discovery of the car in an uptown no parking zone This would have worked if someone hadn't recalled seeing the owner park it in the restricted zone

One Marion man who had frequent use for his car during the day and disliked walking from his uptown office to a parking place outside of the two-hour parking district ended his fears of overtime parking by making a habit of setting an alarm clock when he came to the office in the morning and afternoon If no business calls took him out of the office within two hours from the time he arrived the alarm clock would remind him to move his car

Special Taxes

Highway Director John Jaster's assertion that revenue from the liquid fuel tax should be earmarked exclusively for state highway fund use is a needed reminder that Ohio has made an exception which should not be allowed to become a rule.

The gasoline tax is a special tax levied on users of automobiles. They have learned to pay it without protest because it has been used for their benefit. In an emergency they were won over to a temporary policy of diverting a portion of it to other uses not because they subscribed to any new principle but because they were aware of special need.

Director Jaster says he will make no formal appeal to the legislature to restore the part of the liquid fuel tax revenue which is being diverted to the public school fund but that restoration in the near future is imperative. There can be no reasonable quarrel with this position.

The revenue from special taxes should be used for a special purpose. It may be argued there should be no special taxes but that is beside the point. As long as such taxes are levied the rule should be followed. Ohio automobile users consented to diversion in recognition of an emergency. They cannot be expected to forget that an exception was made and that it should be recalled at the earliest possible moment.

Front Door

It will be noticed by the many Americans who have learned Norman Thomas is an able commentator on national affairs that he clearly has no sympathy for the new deal. He is willing to grant it has tried to do more for workers than some previous administrations but there is nothing about it which appeals to him as a Socialist.

The fact is important. The Roosevelt administration has been charged by opponents with socialistic tendencies. Yet, the principal spokesman for the Socialist party plainly has no desire to let the new deal derive any political benefit from sponsoring experiments which seem to spring from socialistic sympathies.

The truth is that Mr. Thomas who knows what socialism is—a new system of public ownership and democratic management of our economic resources and processes—realizes that his cause has everything to lose and nothing to gain by being identified with the new deal. He isn't interested in beautiful but vague ideals.

He is interested intensely in a new social order and the practical means of obtaining it. A detail incidentally is amendment of the Constitution not new interpretations of that document. As Mr. Thomas begins his third campaign for the presidency on the Socialist ticket it is a question whether he will do more damage by denying the new deal his sympathy or whether his other opponents will gain an edge by continuing to charge that new dealism and socialism are one and the same thing. Apparently the Roosevelt administration by trying to get in at the back door of the houses of capitalism and socialism has made itself persona non grata both places.

Another Experiment?

Election returns from Belgium suggest that country is about to join the growing list of European nations undertaking experiments in government. The socialists while gaining only a few more seats than their nearest opponents the Catholics will be the major party. It is expected their leader Emile Vandervelde will take over the premiership.

Suggestion that Belgium is about to experiment does not entail belief that the country is going Marxist in a big way. If for no other reason than that the combined opposition parties far outnumber the Socialists the country probably will avoid a split-up. Then there is the recollection that frequently radical parties have found the responsibilities of holding office exercising a sobering effect upon their enthusiasms.

The last thought particularly is soothing when the numbers of European countries experimenting with other than right democracies is considered. In the great surge of unrest and crisis following upon the World war several nations sought salvation in dictatorship. Others glimpsed the vision of Utopia through the parliamentary achievement of socialism. The dictatorships perhaps because of the persuasive powers of their armed force continue unchecked but frequently countries which flirted with parliamentary socialism have returned to orthodoxy.

In fact the most satisfying conclusion to be drawn from these repeated upsurges and downswings of parliamentary socialism is that it gets more and more respectable as it swings in and out of office. Filling their preelection platforms with the urge to eliminate the world after winning office radical governments have been forced to moderate their zeal because they found that things just don't work so fast.

Highlighting The Dark Spots.

In calling upon President Roosevelt and Attorney General Cummings to support Edgar Hoover from hearing statements derogatory to the administration of probation and parole the National Probation association appears to be taking the wrong road to the right place. Any such arbitrary demand is likely to be ignored while the association's request bears investigation.

In several of his recent public statements Mr. Hoover has criticized the flagrant abuses of the parole and probation systems and has asserted that every one of his agents who has been killed on duty was shot by a paroled criminal. Unquestionably Mr. Hoover's indignation against a system which permits vicious criminals to evade adequate punishment and wander at large is justified. Yet it would be hard to believe that his anger over abuses blinds him to benefits that might be and are obtained. In fact it is reassuring to recall that in his recent talk to the boys clubs in Philadelphia he conceded he was not attacking the system as a whole.

There's the rub. Without intending to inflict the theory of parole or to assert it fails completely in operation Mr. Hoover has highlighted the failures of a system which has angered and hampered him in his work. It has attracted attention. Unfortunately most justified and unjustified attacks upon parole have attracted attention.

If one took time to study the records it would be discovered that many encouraging successes have been scored by probation and parole organizations. Records also would reveal that many of the defeats of the system's real purposes must be charged to political manipulation of personnel and deficiency of funds and manpower. Highlighting the dark spots has been the trouble. It is to be hoped that more photographs of sunny spots may be snapped by surveyors of the social scene.

They Won't Celebrate.

Just a year after the supreme court shot that was heard around the world was fired the men who loaded the gun are realizing they have no cause to celebrate. The four Schecter brothers poultry dealers who successfully contested the validity of the national industrial recovery act are broke their home is mortgaged and life looks black for them.

Spending $.0 000 to contest the suit that rocked the new deal the brothers were flooded with offers of help and words of praise. When the books were closed a sister declares they discovered they had received a few 10-dollar bills and a shoal of congratulatory letters. Since then they've lost their business. Two of the brothers operate a small store for scarcely any profit one of them works in another store for a meager salary and the fourth is unemployed.

The immediate thought of sympathizers touched by the story of the Schecters plight might be that a thanksgiving fund should be raised and that business men and chambers of commerce first should be solicited for donations. On second thought many persons undoubtedly will come forward with a much more brilliant suggestion.

The resolution of the bright thinkers might be worded somewhat as follows: Whereas the Schecter brothers did cause the validity of NIRA to be challenged whereas the supreme court did duly declare the act unconstitutional and whereas the Democratic party was thereby relieved of a stone around its neck which might have sunk the new deal ship in an election year be it resolved that the Roosevelt administration do hereby grant lifetime pensions to all of the aforesaid brothers in recognition of their invaluable services to the Democratic party in time of peril and experimentation.

Respectfully the resolution is referred to the forthcoming convention in Philadelphia.

NRA Outlawed Just A Year Ago

Historic Anniversary May Come To Be Known as Recovery Day, Act Gave Public Reassurance

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright 1936 by The Marion Star

WASHINGTON May 28—Yesterday was a historic anniversary—maybe hereafter it will be called Recovery day.

For just a year ago the supreme court of the United States by unanimous opinion invalidated the NRA and clearly reaffirmed that the congress could not usurp the rights of the people either by assuming to itself powers over the states or by delegating to the executive the law making privilege.

The NRA decision will rank with the famous opinions of American history but it will have an importance entirely apart from the reestablishment of legal principles. For it marked the beginning of such a resurgence of faith and confidence in the future of the American constitutional system as to warrant business men large and small in going ahead with commitments and plans for restoration of their industries which had for the time being come under a government dictatorship through the code system.

* * *

While many industries had shown an upward curve before the NRA decision was handed down it was generally believed in the weeks preceding May 27 that NRA was on the way out and it needed only the impetus of a strongly worded opinion of constitutionality to seal the fate of the code plan. The impact of the unanimous decision went further than to stimulate businesses that were merely at a disadvantage under the code system—it told all business and all individuals dependent on private industry for employment that the supreme court was ready to function aggressively to prevent amendment of the Constitution in any way except that which was provided in the great charter itself. Such assurance was a forerunner of a pick-up in the total volume of trade and employment.

There have been differences of opinion in the court since then but the differences have by no means altered any fundamental such as the preservation of the rights of the states or the people. The differences rather have turned on whether a given statute did or did not in a given case operate in such a way as to appear to violate a constitutional precept as handed down in previous cases. Some justices have thought the facts did not justify a belief that the constitutional principle was being violated other justices have thought the facts did justify such a belief—but in all instances the fidelity toward the maintenance of the constitutional balance of powers has been uniform and unanimous.

* * *

Perhaps the best illustration of this point is to be found in a case handed down this very week on the subject of municipal debt. It was a 5 to 4 decision. On its face it looks as if five justices thought this federal law violated the rights of the states and the other justices did not object to a violation of states' rights.

Actually Justice Cardozo who wrote the minority opinion expressed himself just as zealously about protecting the rights of the states as did Justice McReynolds who wrote the majority opinion. The difference was in the judgment given to the facts and the way in which the statute had operated or would operate.

Not only are differences of opinion inevitable but there must be a decision to establish what is or is not the supreme law. A 5 to 4 decision makes the majority opinion just as binding as when an act of congress is passed by a margin of one vote or when a bill that has been vetoed by one man—the President—fails to become a law because one member of the senate or the house less than the requisite two-thirds of both houses fails to vote to override the veto.

Our special concern wrote Justice McReynolds is with the existence of the power claimed—not merely the immediate outcome of what has already been attempted. And it is often of first importance that due attention be given to the results which might be brought about by the exercise of the power in the future.

Thus if municipalities can go into a federal court and with court permission virtually repudiate their debts confidence among future investors in the borrowing power of states as well as cities will break down. The supreme court ruled in the gold clause cases that a government could not in conscience impair its own contract. Neither can a city or state do so with the connivance of the federal authority.

* * *

But how can cities revise their debt structure then? Justice Cardozo speaks of reasons of practical convenience and cites the way in which municipalities that cannot increase their taxing area have gotten themselves. He refers also to the minority of creditors who block a settlement and of the relief intended to be given against such abuse by the new federal statute governing municipal bankruptcies.

In a nutshell Mr. McReynolds insists that the supreme law must be maintained and if necessary the Constitution changed in the proper way to prevent hardship in the future. But Mr. Cardozo is tempted as apparently are his associates by the rule of expediency. Since the question turns on whether the states' rights are really violated the minority of the supreme court felt safe in recommending that the law be held valid. They felt states' rights were amply safeguarded.

The layman will then ask if the result could have been achieved in a constitutional way. Certainly a government that can prevent two or more citizens from conspiring to restrain trade can enact laws to punish those engaging in a conspiracy to block a reasonable settlement of claims offered to a court or some other arbitral body by a municipality. Likewise states themselves have the remedy to make voluntary debt agreements with creditors that could not be successfully attacked as inequitable.

Where there is a remedy—and in the last resort there is the method of constitutional amendment—a majority of the justices feel disinclined to take away the people's rights by judicial decision. They prefer to err on the liberal side which is really the side that preserves the constitutional rights against arbitrary assumption of power by legislatures national or state.

Behind the News

Men and Affairs Under The Washington Spotlight

BY JAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON May 28 — It is contrary to accepted public opinion but technical radio engineers insist that President Roosevelt's radio voice is worse than that of any other modern President except Coolidge.

He gets his effects in spite of his voice by draping his arms across the microphone and talking as if he had his elbow on the mantle piece in your parlor.

Gov. Landon's radio voice and style are not the worst in politics by a long shot. Through the microphone he sounds to the engineers like pa.

The supreme Republican orator Senator Borah is very bad radio. He developed his speaking style before public address systems were widely in use and can not tone it down.

In the same category is Vandenberg of Michigan the second best orator in the senate. His voice sounds raspy lacks oil.

Lesson

Postmaster General Farley will not soon again call Gov. Landon the Prairie State candidate or anything like that. In fact he will probably not call Landon anything in the immediate future.

The next time he loads his gun for a shot at the Republicans he will use buckshot instead of single bullets. And he will aim particularly at Republican candidates other than Landon in an effort to even it up. That much has been decided.

The truth is the new deal strategists now unanimously agree that it was a mistake for Mr. Farley to single out Landon at all even without identifying him as a man of the soil. It really helped Landon toward the nomination and it may give the Kansan a good campaign cry.

Mr. Farley never makes the same mistake twice. The Farley speech was really written by Charles Michelson greatest of political ghosts. Michelson was probably thinking of the fact that most of the Democratic votes are in the cities.

Dig

A nudge for Dr. Tugwell seemed to be involved in the supreme court decision in the live stock case. No one caught it except perhaps the economic doctor and a few of the boys around the agriculture department.

What the court did was to reverse unanimously a lower court decision favoring the Agriculture Department order against 50 live stock commission men. The court said the lower judge erred in declining to consider paragraph four of the complaint. And paragraph four charged that the order was not considered by Agriculture Secretary Wallace but by one R. G. Tugwell and one R. W. Dunlap.

The economic theory behind the order was that there are too many marketing agencies too many salesmen and too much competition in the live stock business. At least this is what the live stock merchants charged. The theory itself was not considered by the court which ruled only on the technical point of law.

But as one new dealer complained upon hearing of it. "Some one is always picking on Rex."

The case against the live stock men was really started in the Hoover administration. Testimony was concluded before Mr. Hoover left office. But the order was issued by Secretary Wallace shortly after he came in.

Batting

Ordinarily a president rushes forward with a lot of appointments in a campaign year but Mr. Roosevelt is doing just the opposite. He is refraining from making appointments to vacancies which have existed in important federal offices for a long time.

For instance months have passed without an appointment to fill the vacant farm chair on the Federal Reserve Board. It is said that there are so many active candidates for it that the President may keep the chair unoccupied until after election. It may be more important as bait than as a plum. In other words the President is going on the assumption that birdseed in the hand is attractive to all the birds in the bushes.

Similarly no effort was made to fill immediately the FRB chair from which Mr. Morrison arose last week and departed for Texas and several other scattered federal seats.

The stories that Mr. Morrison did not get along with Gov. Eccles are correct. He retired because he is financially able to choose his own company. He was an outsider to the Eccles clique, which includes all other members of the board. Likes Texas better than Washington.

Dullness

At this time last year you could not get a seat in the Senate gallery. It was always packed and usually dozens were waiting outside in line. This year you can generally choose any one you like of the dozens of vacant seats. The reason they say is Huey Long is no longer present.

O. O. McIntyre's Diary of Fact Fancy and Folks

NEW YORK May 28.—Brock Pemberton in taking charge of Gov. Alf Landon's political fortunes in the East is responding to a college campus friendship when he and Landon attended Kansas university. They were fellow lodgers in the same frat house—boon buddies outside.

In those days Kansas and Missouri met on a Kansas City football field for their annual scrap and Landon and Pemberton were among the chief rooters as well as foremost in the rush the night of the game to storm the Old Century theater where Bickel and Watson and such held forth.

Pemberton came on to New York as a newspaper reporter and became one of the most astute and successful producers of his day while Landon of course remained to become governor of the state. They never lost touch and exchanged visits at intervals.

There are those who say that should Landon be nominated and elected Pemberton would likely hold a high place in the official family. Yet those who know the producer's love for the theater do not believe the presidency itself could lure him from the Rialto.

One notices much of the open continental love making in Central park and along Fifth avenue and Broadway these days. Strolling lovers wander with arms around one another's waists. And smack dab in front of the Hotel Astor the other dusk a starry eyed pair stopped in sudden ecstasy to exchange a lingering kiss. The customary loiterers on the hotel steps rewarded them with a quick jet of applause. They made unabashed little curtsies in response and moved on. Still in a clinch.

Incidentally Victor Herbert was a prowler for old music boxes. So was Harry Reichenbach.

Someone once told me of being an over night guest at the home of the Des Moines newspaper publisher Cowles. As the household began to stir out of its slumber in the morning there was off somewhere delightfully faint a music box tinkling of the ancient Wedding of the Winds tune. The soft purring tones sifting into the various sleeping chambers soothed everyone into a smiling peaceful awakening. Perhaps more music at breakfast and a mite less in the night clubs would do no particular harm.

Eyes Center on Carter Glass

Party Leaders Are Uncertain About His Convention Role

By PRESTON GROVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON May 28—Democratic leaders are wondering whether Senator Carter Glass of Virginia will play his accustomed role in shaping the 1936 party platform or will absent himself from deliberations of the resolutions committee.

Ever since 1896 the Virginian has had a part in writing almost every Democratic platform. He has been especially interested in monetary and banking planks but in other wise has he been restricted to those subjects.

While he has differed with the administration policies Glass has emphasized that he will support President Roosevelt.

He drafted the sound money plank in the 1932 platform. Since then he has rarely lost an opportunity to intimate his disagreement with monetary policies of the administration. His wry observation that if you have any money they'll put you in jail has brought many a senate chuckle.

The 1932 Money Plank

The 1932 plank states: We advocate a sound currency to be preserved at all hazards and an international monetary conference called on the invitation of the government to consider the rehabilitation of silver and related questions.

As chairman of the senate appropriations committee he led the debate for the $4 880 000 000 work relief bill last session although indicating throughout that he was concerned about the growing debt and its effect on banks required to carry the government bonds.

The request for another billion and a half this session also was referred to his committee.

Will he want to say something about that at Philadelphia?

Rehearses Platform Ideas

Glass has had a splendid opportunity to rehearse his platform ideas. Since well before the turn of the century he has been writing them into the Virginia state platforms.

The result has been that in presidential election years the appearance of the Virginia state platform has been news of special importance to Democrats and Republicans alike who have looked to it as an indication of what the little Virginian had on his mind.

The Virginia convention this year will be at Norfolk June 9 a week before the national convention.

He has said he has not decided what part he would play in the state convention. Glass is up for reelection but has no opponent in either major party.

* * *

Labor's spokesmen in congress are practically expressing no doubt about salvaging anything the Guffey coal bill this session. The plan a determined attempt however.

Immediately after the drive they set about carving away those parts of the act the supreme court held invalid. It was the court's somewhat tender treatment of the price fixing features in the act which gave them encouragement that something might be saved.

The Guffey act proposed to set mine owners in conjunction with government and labor authority fix the price of coal at levels which would permit a profit to owners and better wages to miners. A 13½ per cent peral tax per ton was assessed against non-complying owners. Certain guarantees for labor also were to be enforced by the penalty tax.

Price Fixing Not Outlawed

The majority of the court held that the tax was obviously used to coerce compliance with the labor phases and so out of bounds. But in turn the labor sections also were held invalid. The decision a court saying however that price fixing was taboo.

A few labor minded members of congress thought they could prepare a bill in which coal price fixing could be used to eliminate cut-throat competition in the industry. Then too they were prepared to let John L. Lewis and his powerful United Mine Workers see to it that labor get a proper cut out of the price fixed for the coal mined.

Drafting a new bill emphasizing the price fixing features was a part of the undertaking. Getting through a congress hungry for adjournment presented a problem but that administration leaders appeared to feel was ample tough not unwise in the face of taxpayer relief and certain other urgent.

Miners For Roosevelt

The bill was passed last session after many delays under what some considered was a threatened threat from coal miners that it was either a bill or a strike. They got the bill and no strike. Subsequently officials of the United Mine Workers said specifically that they were for the election of President Roosevelt.

Would the miners raise a cry immediately of "sabotage through a substitute" A few observers who recalled the miners' indorsement of Mr. Roosevelt predicted they would not spoil the campaign summer with labor trouble.

A few new deal senators have been holding a wet finger in the air and report discovering a definite wind blowing against price fixing legislation. They have found a weather spot or two left by NRA and some that they would like to see healed before the price fixing weapon is used again in the recovery battle.

SOLDIERS SENT TO PALESTINE

Britain Sends More Troops to Scene of Arab-Jewish Guerilla Warfare.

By United Press

JERUSALEM, May 28 — The British government early today rushed an additional battalion of troops to Jerusalem from Cairo, as widespread sniping, guerilla warfare and pillaging were reported in the Holy Land.

Rioting Arabs burned an orange grove owned by Felix Warburg of the United States. The grove was located near Jaffa, center of most of the recent trouble in which at least 80 persons have been killed. Arab insurgents and police clashed in a gun battle at Jaffa last night. Casualties were not announced.

The government announced that it will recruit additional Jewish police to assist in clearing up armed bands in the hills around Nablus.

Arab leaders at Nablus and other Arab strongholds threatened to join the general strike movement launched in Jerusalem and Jaffa several weeks ago unless their demands are satisfied by June 1.

Petach Tikvah, orange packing house town in the center of the citrus section, was fired and almost destroyed.

Lawrence of Arabia Is Not Forgotten

By The Associated Press

The words and deeds of Lawrence of Arabia, buried a year ago in an unmarked English grave, were in the minds of Arab tribesmen waging guerilla warfare today in Palestine.

Just as Germany's remilitarization of the Rhineland and Italy's seizure of Ethiopia are linked to deals and treaties of the World war when the allied powers remade the map of the world, so is the bloodshed in the land of Jesus and Mohammed.

Arab nationalist leaders contend the allies went back on a promise—and Lawrence of Arabia thought so, too.

In the vital days of the World war the strong armies of Turkey, in control of Palestine, began a drive on the Suez canal. They planned to cut Britain's "life line" to India. If successful the move might easily have changed the outcome of the war.

T. E. Shaw (Lawrence) a scholarly young Englishman, unable to obtain more active service because of his small stature, went to the near east in the intelligence service.

Winning the confidence of Arabs, he spurred a revolt against Turkish rule and gave telling blow after blow to the Turks, who put a price of $100,000 on his head. The Turks never reached the Suez.

Arabs contend they were promised independence for their aid. Lawrence went to the peace conference and pleaded for this. Later he quit the British colonial office in disgust, asserting pledges to his friends, the Arabs, were unfulfilled.

In 1917 Arthur Balfour, British foreign secretary, made a declaration which has to become historic and a bone of yet unended Arab-Jewish strife.

"His majesty's government," he said, "view with favor the establishment in Palestine of a national home for the Jewish people."

In 1922 Palestine had 83,790 Jews and 656,255 Arabs. Now there roughly is estimated 480,000 Jews and 800,000 Arabs.

Leaders of the Arab civil disobedience strike—which has more aspects of a revolt—are demanding complete cessation of Jewish immigration and sale of land to Jews, claiming eventually they will be subject to the Jews as the present rate.

Many Arab leaders dream of a "United States of Arabia," including Syria, Iraq, Egypt and other countries. The French are having their troubles in Syria and only a few months ago there was bloody rioting in Egypt against British domination.

GOV. ROBERT LUCAS

Although Gov. Robert Lucas of Pike county was an outstanding character in the lower Scioto valley, the name seems to have wholly disappeared from that section except as it lives in the name of Lucasville, a village named in his honor.

Gov. Lucas was married twice and had eight children. Although known as an upright man and a stickler for justice, he became unpopular.

When he was appointed territorial governor of Iowa, Gov. Lucas sold all his Ohio possessions and never returned to this state.

FUNERAL DIRECTORS ATTEND MEETING

Men from Marion and Other Towns in Convention.

C. E. Curtis and Merle Hughes of the C. E. Curtis Co. funeral home and Gene Gunder of the firm of M. H. Gunder & Son went to Cincinnati yesterday afternoon to attend the Wednesday night and Thursday sessions of the annual convention of the Ohio Funeral Directors' association.

Among those from Marion and vicinity who were present at yesterday's session were Harold Denzer of the Schaffner-Queen funeral home, R. H. Allen of the Timson funeral home in Caledonia and Harry Curl of the Curl funeral home in Cardington.

RIOTING MARKS STRIKE SCENES

Agreements Reached in Some Plants Offset by New Walkouts in Others.

By The Associated Press

Strikes in industry and agriculture were in progress in 20 states today, marked by scattered disorder.

Agreements reached in some states were offset by fresh troubles elsewhere. The number of workers affected was estimated by labor leaders at more than 40,000.

Ilion, N. Y., police said 100 uniformed private detectives who had been sent to guard the Remington Rand plant had been recalled by company officials who said it would reopen today.

The guards were described as having received a "hostile greeting" when they walked through the downtown streets and as having difficulty finding taxicab operators and bus drivers to take them from the town.

Three men were arrested on a charge of assaulting a worker at the plant which was surrounded by 1,000 pickets.

Dallas, Tex., police patrolled taxi company offices after two passengers had been jerked from taxis by sympathizers with 600 striking cab drivers. All movement of cabs stopped.

At Providence, R. I., the Rochambeau Worsted Co. was closed after 250 workers voted to strike because, they said, a woman employe had been discharged because her machine broke down.

Shoremen on Strike

A strike by members of the International Longshoremen's union at Milwaukee, Wis., held up the handling of cargoes on two package freighters. Union leaders said there were 400 strikers.

A major settlement was reached at Bedford, Ind., where a committee of operators and workmen announced the end of the strike of crane operators in the Bedford-Bloomington limestone district which had thrown 2,500 men out of work since May 8. Committee members said the operators would go back to work at their old wage scale.

Little headway had been made toward settlement of the barbers' strike in New York, in which union officials said 7,500 were participating; in the strikes of 3,000 Arkansas tenant farmers, 1,000 celery field workers in California, and 5,500 employes of the Wheeling Steel Corp. at Portsmouth, O.

INDUSTRIAL OUTPUT HITS 1923-25 LEVEL

Federal Reserve Board Points to Increase During April of Seven Per Cent.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 28—A rise in industrial production from 93 per cent of the 1923-25 average in March to 100 per cent in April was reported today by the federal reserve board.

The board's monthly report said the rise was accompanied by an increase in employment and payrolls in the durable goods industry.

Steel mill production was reported at the rate of 60 per cent of capacity in April and 50 per cent the month before. During the first three weeks of May activity in the steel and automobile industries was maintained at the April levels, the board said.

Decline was reported in activity in woolen and silk mills, but little change was noted in soft coal production, which usually drops off during this season.

A little lemon juice in the water in which rice is boiled helps to keep it white.

SCHOLARSHIP WON BY MARION STUDENT

Miss Vivian Weimer Given Award at Hiram Under New Study Plan.

Miss Vivian Weimer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer L. Weimer of 190 East Walnut street, has been awarded a scholarship for her freshman year at Hiram college, Hiram, O., beginning next fall, according to a news report from the college.

Scholarship awards are made, not only on the scholastic record of the student, but on interest and participation in high school activities, and the personality of the individual.

Miss Weimer, a senior at Harding High school, is a member of the National Honor society, is on the school honor roll, and has been active in dramatics in addition to her academic work. She is a cellist.

At Hiram she will study under the new plan which has attracted national attention to the co-educational college, concentrating for nine weeks on one subject, then taking up another, rather than dividing her time among five different subjects as is usual in colleges. The plan has been in operation at Hiram college for the last two years.

RAINBOW VETS TO DECORATE GRAVES

Will Conduct Ceremony at Forest Glen Memorial Park.

Members of Dyer J. Bird chapter, Ohio Rainbow Division, will decorate graves of the World war soldiers in the veterans' plot at Forest Glen Memorial park in a ceremony to be held at 10 a. m. Saturday morning. No formal program has been arranged. During the ceremony of decorating the graves there will be an appropriate musical program from the chimes tower in the park. All veterans organizations and their auxiliaries are invited to join the chapter for the service.

In the afternoon the veterans will join in the Annual Memorial day services.

VETS WILL TAKE PART IN SERVICE

Plans were completed for taking part in the Memorial day exercises and also to attend a zone meeting at Delaware Sunday, June 7, at a meeting of Marion Post No. 3313, Veterans of Foreign Wars, last night at the Odd Fellows hall. The meeting at Delaware will open at 10:30 a. m., and a social feature will be a potluck supper served by the auxiliaries. A report on a joint meeting of the posts and auxiliaries held at Marysville May 14, was given by L. W. Sager, zone commander. Plans were made for a social meeting at the next regular meeting June 10. A lunch was served by the auxiliary members following the business session.

Eucalyptus oil will remove grease or oil from any fabric, however delicate.

VERDICT WITHHELD IN MANSFIELD DEATH

Woman's Burned Body Found in Basement of Her Home by Husband.

By The Associated Press

MANSFIELD, O., May 28—Coroner Hugh C. Winbigler withheld a verdict today in the "torch" death of Mrs. W. F. Howell, 56, whose burned body was found by her husband yesterday in the basement of their home. Winbigler said kerosene apparently had been poured over the woman's body and ignited and that he wished to investigate the death further. Howell is a guard at the Mansfield reformatory.

Howell, who is 58, told Police Lieutenant LeRoy Coffey that nothing apparently was wrong when he left home for work at the reformatory at 6:30 yesterday morning, adding that his wife had been ill and despondent.

He discovered the body when he returned home shortly before 8 last night. He said he detected fumes when he entered the living room, called for his wife and, after searching the house, went to the basement.

Coroner Winbigler said the woman was lying on her back and that "about two cups" of kerosene had been poured on the front of her dress. The clothing on her back was not burned.

Neighbors said they saw no one enter or leave the house during the day.

There are no children.

Your Health

BY DR R S COPELAND

Menopause.

Sooner or later women react that dreaded time known as change of life I am glad to say that medical science has done much to lessen the miseries of what has been a trying period

The menopause and climacteric are other names for that time in a woman's life when certain organs cease their periodic and the child bearing period ends This change usually begins between the ages of 45 and 50

The change may be so gradual that no uncomfortable effect appears As a rule the first sign is a gradual lessening of the menstruation periods

The change is accompanied by certain physical as well as mental disturbances usually of a mild and temporary character There is a peculiar sensation of heat with profuse perspiration on going from one room to another

Many women are exceedingly self-conscious and nervous while going through this period They complain of flushing excessive perspiration and discomfort of the skin of the face neck and chest

These symptoms may be so mild as to be completely overlooked In some they prove to be of a more serious nature As a rule the discomfort and nervous irritability can be lessened by the administration of a sedative or one of the glandular extracts

Let me warn you against the universal and erroneous belief that the menopause may prove to be dangerous and even fatal It is not the cause of mental disorders or permanent disability Fear at this time or any other is a menace to health and happiness If there is any doubt in your mind about your general health consult the doctor

JAPAN WANTS TO KEEP SUBS

Asks for Free Hand in Dealing With Her Excess Naval Tonnage.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 25 — A new naval treaty escape—by construction impetus last night in reply to a British move to sidestep destroyer restrictions of the 1930 London naval pact.

Japan asked a free hand to deal with excess tonnage which she proposes to retain under the treaty, which expires Dec. 31, 1936.

Naval observers saw the counter-move likely to doom at least two major limitations of the treaty, since they believed Japan wants to retain her submarines.

The other restriction deals with cruisers. The British already are building three cruisers in order to keep from scrapping them, but may not dispose of five others under the restriction likewise is allowed by mutual consent.

Reports alleging that non-signatories of the London treaty had built 200 submarines since 1930, recently initiated a move to enable her to retain 40,000 excess tons of destroyers.

Instead of resorting to the legal method of escape provided by the treaty and invoking the escalator clause, the government asked Washington and Tokyo to consent to step outside the treaty in effecting the move.

• • •

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 25 — Admiral William H. Standley, acting secretary of the navy, yesterday asserted that if Great Britain desired to retain excess destroyer tonnage under the 1930 London naval treaty, she must invoke the pact's "escalator" clause.

This view, as expressed to newspaper men, was expected to form the basis of the navy's recommendations to the state department concerning this government's attitude toward the British proposal to maintain a destroyer fleet greater than that allowed by the treaty.

Few Bottles of Vendol Made This Man Feel 100% Better

Finds his digestion is better, is free of sour gas, bowels are regular and nerves calmed so he sleeps sound. Highly recommends it.

There is hardly a man or woman in this city but who could improve their health and feel much better than they do by taking Vendol. Nearly everyone suffers from constipation, a sluggish liver or poor digestion, and a few weeks treatment of the great Vendol medicine will prove astonishing to them.

Just read what this highly respected man says Vendol did for him. He is Mr. M. B. Good of 136 Lafayette St., Marion.

"I had always enjoyed good health and felt that I could digest most anything, but somehow for the last year I noticed there was something wrong. My food would sour in my stomach. I'd have heartburn and be in misery for hours after meals. I got so nervous I couldn't sleep and soon lost my appetite and was beginning to lose my strength. It was then I took a friend's advice and got some Vendol, and I'm glad I did.

"I began to improve steadily. My appetite returned and now I eat most anything without suffering from the gas, sourness and cramps. I have put on weight since taking Vendol and the little laxative tablets and I really feel a hundred per cent better than I did.

"My bowels are regular every day, my liver was worked off and I never feel those aching pains in my back any more; so I can truthfully say Vendol has done me a lot of good and gladly recommend to others."

Vendol is made from roots and herbs, the best medicine anyone could take, especially at this season of the year. Get some today and soon feel better than in months.

"SOVIETTES" HEAR LENIN'S WIDOW

This rare photo of the widow of Lenin, Madam N. K. Krupskaya, shows her addressing a Soviet feminine congress in Moscow. The several instances in which she has taken advantage of her privileged position to criticize Soviet government activities once caused Dictator Stalin to say that "if she didn't behave herself, I will appoint a new Lenin's widow."

HOLC WILL MAKE LAST MORTGAGE LOAN SOON

Agency Prepares To Wind Up Business; 850 Persons Have Borrowed $1,500,000 Since June 13, 1933.

With the expiration of the Home Owners Loan Corp. act less than two weeks away HOLC officials here began this week to wind up the government agency's business of loaning money in Marion county.

The necessary procedure to make the final HOLC loan in this county was started last week. It is a loan of $5,900 on a three-acre home property several miles outside the city.

While the act establishing the corporation does not expire until midnight June 12 the date for making final loans was set ahead so that they can pass through the various channels in ample time to close the deal, Henry A. Mickley, Marion county HOLC attorney, said today.

The HOLC was established June 13, 1933. The first loan was made in Marion county in October of that year. Since that time there have been approximately 850 loans made in the county aggregating approximately $1,500,000.

To date there have been 18 HOLC foreclosures here. More than half of those have been started in common pleas court within the last 10 days. The first foreclosure in Ohio and the fifth in the United States was in Marion county last year. It was on a property on which approximately $4,000 had been loaned. The property was rented by the loaning agency after it had acquired possession.

Compared to the number of loans made there have been few foreclosures, Mr. Mickley said. Most of them are on properties whose owners could not possibly pay off the amount borrowed or who were not interested in paying it off.

The great majority of persons who borrow from the HOLC make their payments regularly and receipts in Marion county have been exceptionally good, officials said. Those properties on which the corporation forecloses will be handled for renting and sale by a property management division of the HOLC, now being organized.

The HOLC branch office here is a part of the Toledo district. Don D. Hentze is acting manager of the Marion branch. The office will be closed about the middle of June and all HOLC operations in this county will be handled through Toledo. Ten counties are served by the Marion office—Marion, Crawford, Hancock, Sandusky, Huron, Erie, Hardin, Morrow, Seneca and Wyandot.

BLUM PUZZLED BY U. S. DEBT

Wants To Wipe Out Resentment Here but Can't See How Without Paying.

By The Associated Press

PARIS, May 25—Leon Blum, Socialist premier-to-be, wants to wipe out American resentment against France's war debt defaults, but is puzzled over how to do it "without paying," his friends said last night.

Blum, who voted for default with his fellow Socialists in 1932 and thus wrecked the old leftist cartel by throwing Edouard Herriot out of the premiership, will have to reply through the foreign office to a war debt bill from the United States by June 15.

Wants To Borrow

Not only is the continued default embarrassing, say officials, but Blum would like to be able to borrow money from the United States to support his Socialist government, or at least have America's sympathy and support against Germany in case of war.

Reports Blum may try to borrow $1,000,000,000 in America persisted in chamber lobbies today, but friends of the next premier denied he intends to try for a loan or to reopen debt negotiations.

Blum's ministerial declaration when he becomes premier is awaited anxiously since he deplored the debt "misunderstanding" between the United States and France in a recent speech to the American club.

After Election

It is conceded debt discussions, if revived, would await the outcome of the presidential election in the United States.

Washington's bill for the debt installment due June 15, including the amount due under the Hoover moratorium and interest, is for approximately $74,786,600. Defaulted payments since 1932 amount to $230,292,0992.86.

Blum's very mention of the debts in a public speech brought accusations of "hypocrisy" from his opponents. Not only did the Socialist vote for default in 1932, but Vincent Auriol, Socialist nominee for the ministry of finance in the Blum cabinet, led the attack on the war debt at that time.

MERCHANT IN DAYTON SLAIN BY ROBBERS

Bloodstained Lead Pipe Left Near Counter Lone Clue in Murder.

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O., May 25—David O. Leslie, 69, proprietor of a grocery store in a residential section, was beaten to death with a section of lead pipe, then robbed of an undetermined amount of money, but police today admitted the weapon itself constituted the only clue so far uncovered. It was found nearby.

Leslie died a few hours after a customer discovered him behind a counter, unconscious from a skull fracture. Coroner H. W. Harris said a number of blows were struck and police believed the grocer was attacked from behind, as there were no signs of struggle apparent.

The cash register was rifled. Leslie's widow said he usually kept a large amount of cash in the store, but added she knew neither the "hiding place" nor any approximate amount usually on hand.

Leslie was a victim six years ago of robbers, who shot him twice, then fled with part of the day's receipts.

The piece of lead pipe found near him yesterday was bloodstained and police planned to subject it to tests for fingerprints.

Gypsy Weather

By MARGARET BELL HOUSTON

(Copyright 1928, Margaret Bell Houston)

In an effort to help her son-in-law Hope, Dirk Joris has asked her father to come to her assistance. He arrives, makes caustic remarks about Hope's choice, takes the strong path, and finally consents to see her. There is a deep mystery to Hope's life Dirk knows. Her sudden marriage to Rupert Joris, the circumstance of her first meeting with Rupert, her strange tryste with a woman named Faerini over a newspaper in New York all point to it.

• • •

CHAPTER THIRTY-TWO

Curious Visit

Dirk laid the hat and coat he had picked up on the table and went upstairs, where he found Mary in the hall. Mary said that Mrs. Joris was awake. Dirk assured her that Mr. Joris must be prepared.

"Your father, the Rev. Devine is here.' Just that. If she wants to see him, he will see him. Tell her that I telephoned him. Not because she is ill, but because I thought it would do her good to have him see her. You see, if it won't do her any good if she doesn't want to see him, there'll be no sense in his coming."

Mary looked so mystified at Dirk's insistence on this tautology that Dirk was forced to be reminded who her father was. "I'd better tell her, myself."

"Oh, no, sir!" said Mary. Of course she wouldn't tell Miss Hope, but Mrs. oJris had asked that very afternoon that he be kept out of her room.

She repeated the words to Hope a moment later. Hope lay a passive figure in the great bed. The shadows beneath her drowsy eyes were not as bruises. The eyes flew open, dark, incredulous.

"Who?"

"Your father, Ma'am. The Rev. Mr. Devine."

Hope sat up.

"Dirk did this," she whispered. "He telegraphed."

"Mister Dirk wired him that you were ill."

Hope, sitting up in bed, appeared to be thinking, thinking fast.

"I'll see him," she said. "Please say to Mister Dirk that I'll be glad to see him. Glad. Do you understand?"

"I do, Ma'am."

They seemed very careful about the message then sent each other.

"My clothes," said Hope. "Get me my clothes."

She was out of bed, standing whitely, looking a little dizzy.

Mary, who had not anticipated that sudden move, drew her back, pressed the covers about her.

"But Ma'am, your own father! He will come in here. He will come to you."

"Alone!" breathed Hope. "He must come in quite alone, and remain in here, alone. No one else. No one. See that Dirk understands that. And that I'm glad...glad to see him. How does he seem?" with a little catch of the breath. "I mean ...does he seem kind? Merciful?"

"I haven't seen him, Ma'am. But I know that everything will be as you would like it. Otherwise, he would not have come....And now ...don't talk any more. Except to him. I will brush your hair, and we will put on the bed-jacket with the roses, and all the little lace pillows behind you."

There were dozens of these. Hope lay enthroned like a pale queen when Mary stole out to summon the Rev. Devine. Dirk was waiting in the hall.

"How was it?" he asked.

"She's glad, sir. Glad to see him. Glad he's come—just as I knew she would be."

Dirk was relieved. Mary added: "She must see him alone, sir. Quite alone."

"Of course."

"And he must be kind, sir. He must be forgiving. She's a little... nervous about that, sir."

"I've cautioned him," Dirk said. "But I'll speak of it again."

• • •

The Rev. Devine, when cautioned again, repeated that he understood. He came with Dirk upstairs. Mary admitted him to the room, and withdrew.

She said to Dirk in the hall:

"I'll fix up the south room, shall I, sir? Mr. Devine may wish to stay the night."

Dirk assented, and Mary prepared the room. She was sleeping in Rupert's room now, occupying a cot that had been placed in the passage between that room and Hope's. The door was closed tonight, but Mary, making ready for bed, could hear faintly the voices of Hope and the visitor.

She would not undress yet, she decided, because she must show the Rev. Devine to his room. She would do, however, what she could, like washing her face and saying her prayers....Poor Mister Rupert... there was something sad in using his wash-bowl, and not knowing if he would ever come back to it any more!...

Mary, having washed her face, had just sat down in Mister Rupert's leather-covered chair beside the lamp when she became aware that the blur of conversation in the next room had become clear, disturbingly clear.

Hope had said something—Mary could not tell what, because she had not been listening—and now the Rev. Devine was replying. His voice sounded as if he had risen, as if he stood beside the outer door which was not far from this door here.

He said:

"I will not be party to any such thing. What wonder that you are ill? Your cure lies only with yourself."

Again the blurred murmurs—Hope speaking, the Rev. Devine speaking. (Mary could have heard that, too, if her ears hadn't been so poor.) Then an audible parting word from the Rev. Devine.

"You have no right to stay here, no right to sacrifice others. I will not be party to it."

A door opened and closed. There was silence.

Or was there? Mary's ears could not be sure. But she was fearful for her charge (the next time she recommended a visit from estranged parents!) and she opened the door beside the cot, and went into Hope's room.

Hope was sitting up in bed, her wide, dilated eyes on the other door.

"See where he's gone!" she cried to Mary. "See what he's doing!... Don't let him go to Dirk!"

Mary went out into the hall in time to see the Rev. Devine finish the descent of the stair, take hat and coat from the table near the door, and depart—all very sternly, very quietly.

"He's gone," she said, returning to the room.

• • •

Hope lay back on the pillows with closed eyes. Mary felt the small quick pulse, rubbed the cold hands. Her thoughts were profane. She drew the covers about Hope's shoulders, and raised a window to air the room. ..How would she ever tell Mister Dirk that her prescription had acted like this?... She needn't....

"There now, it's not worth it. It's not worthy worrying over." Mary patted the shoulder underneath the cover.

"Go to sleep, poor lady. It will all be right in the morning. I've seen many a hard father in my day."

Mary wanted to add, "But this is the worst of the lot." Instead, she said, "They all lived to be sorry. They did, indeed."

Hope's dark gaze moved up to her face.

"What do you mean? Why do you say he is hard?"

"She don't want even me to know," thought Mary, and answered soothingly:

"His leaving so soon, Ma'am. And I'd got the south room ready for him."

"He had to go," said Hope. "If Dirk asks about it, please say that he . . . had to go. I'm not so . . . very ill. I've had these . . . these illnesses before. I always get well. He knows that. It was nothing to come on for. Dirk shouldn't have wired him."

Mary looked away before the searching eyes.

"She's wondering if I heard him," thought Mary. Treacherous ears with their half-sleeping nerves! Often they woke at just the wrong moment, and captured what was not intended for them.

"I understand, Ma'am, I had just come in my room, and heard him go out. He hadn't been here half-an-hour, but that was enough." ("It was indeed," thought Mary.)

"I didn't want him to disturb Dirk," added Hope more quietly. "I really feel better . . . now that it's over. Now that I've seen him, I mean."

Mary hoped this was true. She removed the bed-jacket from her patient's shoulders, took away all the little pillows except the big soft one that immediately engulfed the small white face. Her hand moved to the chain of the night-lamp.

"Good night, Ma'am."

Obediently Hope closed her eyes.

Dirk is amazed at the improvement in Hope, tomorrow.

Married Comrades

BY ADELE GARRISON

Madge Promises to Inform Marion About Ronald.

I SMILED at Marion encouragingly as she said that she wished I could write to her about Ronald, but that she was afraid I couldn't because Carolyn always liked to read my letters.

"Do you think so little of my resourcefulness, darling?" I asked, and Dicky chuckled.

"If you know your creamed onions, Marion," he said, "you won't impugn this dame's resourcefulness nor yet her ingenuity. They are her most prized characteristics, and she glories in 'em, but justly, my child, most justly."

He leaned forward across her as he spoke, and sent me a smile that took the sting from the familiar gibe which sometimes annoys me intensely.

"Tell her what you're going to do," he went on, "but make it snappy."

"It's very simple," I told Marion, who was by now a living illustration of anxious expectation. "When I telephone Mrs. Barnes to give her the message for you of which I have told you, I shall caution her to give you the message when she is very sure that Carolyn will not know about it. At the same time I shall tell her that I am sending you a letter under cover of one to her, and ask her to give it to you without Carolyn, or indeed, anyone else, seeing it. Will that do?"

Leave for School

She twisted in her seat, and threw her arms enthusiastically about me.

"Will it do?" she echoed. "You blessed darling, I'll say it will do! It's simply perfect. I ought to have thought of it myself," she added.

"That's enough of the spinach," Dicky said briskly, stooping to the switch key. "We've got to get going. Better make this your parting embrace, for when we get to the school, we're going to dump you out without ceremony or fond farewell. Just a wave of the hand, and we'll be on our way, while you dash for cover."

And when a minute later we set her down at the school gate and drove hastily away, her face was so much brighter than it had been when she came into the hotel bedroom, that I felt a glow of thankfulness at having been able to bring her solace.

It was something else again for me to contemplate going up to New Haven, telling Ronald, as I must, that Marion had appealed to me because of her worry about him, and thrusting unwarranted fingers, no matter how sympathetic, into his affairs.

But I had no choice. I was more worried than I like to admit, even to myself, over that mention by Ronald of the insurance he was carrying, or rather, that his stepfather was carrying for him. I knew of the insurance, in detail, for Samuel Brixton had told us of his foresight in the hearty boastfulness which is so characteristic of him.

"When the children are thirty years old," I had heard him say, "they won't have to worry over where the next meal is coming from, or about the baby's new shoes. I'm keeping up enough endowment insurance on them, coming due at the age of thirty, to take the edge off financial anxiety. They won't be millionaires, or anything like that, but they'll have nice little nest eggs, both of them."

"Well! what's the dope, old dear?"

Dicky's quizzical voice brought me back from my reverie with a start.

"Anything you can tell me?" he went on.

"Why! of course," I told him. "I want to tell you everything, for I need your advice."

"All right, dish it," he said, slackening the speed of the car to a pace more comfortable for listening, and I gave him every detail of the story Marion had told me. He listened intently, his face growing more serious by the second.

"What do you think?" I asked when I had finished.

"That we'd better get to New Haven as soon as the Lord will let us," he rejoined.

TAX DRIVE NOT SO SUCCESSFUL

Campaign To Collect Delinquent Levies Yields Gain of $2,000 In Crawford Co.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, May 28—Despite a concerted effort on the part of county authorities to collect delinquent taxes in an attempt to increase operating revenue for the county's corporations and schools, a gain of only $2,000 was made through the December collection, County Auditor Clarance Metzger reported late Wednesday in announcing the total collection and distribution.

Delinquent payments totaled almost $22,000, but there were new delinquencies amounting to $20,000, Metzger reported.

The collection, as a whole, was disappointing to officials who believed that the subdivisions would receive considerably more this year than last year. The distributed funds, however, are about the same as in 1935.

Several subdivisions had already made advance draws, which were deducted from the distribution made Wednesday. These were: Whitestone school, $2,699; Bucyrus, $35,100; Holmes-Liberty school, $5,699; North Robinson school, $5,099; Tiro school, $4,200; Crestline, $10,000, and Galion, $25,000. Bucyrus, Galion and Crestline advances were for schools.

Tax funds distributed, after advance drawn had been deducted, were as follows:

Corporation: Bucyrus, $29,627.79; Galion, $25,907.95; Crestline, $19,418.01; New Washington, $1,158.08; Chatfield, $59.45; North Robinson, $101.35; Tiro, $197.18.

School districts: North Auburn special, $1,224.73; Tiro consolidated, $2,907.99; Bucyrus city, $27,028.83; Bucyrus rural, $6,328.25; Chatfield, $7,741.58; New Washington, $7,449.51; Dallas rural, $1,736.58; Holmes-Liberty, $4,591.37; Crestline, $5,777.03; Jefferson rural, $4,060.87; North Robinson consolidated, $4,017.15; Sulphur Springs, $7,458.51; Lykens rural, $5,204.17; Galion, $6,244.49; Polk, $4,077.39 and Whitestone rural, $3,607.19.

Townships: Auburn, $347.51; Bucyrus, $1,701.46; Chatfield, $1,550.45; Cranberry, $1,547.81; Dallas, $770.27; Holmes, $1,750.97; Jackson, $2,611.01; Jefferson, $1,151.40; Liberty, $1,278.31; Lykens, $523.90; Polk, $1,078.44; Sandusky, $917.85; Texas, $755.98; Tod, $747.80; Vernon, $1,288.10; Whitestone, $1,846.02.

FOREST WIDOW FILES SUIT AGAINST PLANT

$125,000 Asked from Lime and Stone Co. in Alleged Silicosis Death.

Special to The Star

KENTON, O., May 28—Mrs. Alma Benjamin of Forest today filed suit for $125,000 damages against the Herzog Lime & Stone Co., for the death of her 32-year-old husband, Harvey Benjamin.

Mrs. Benjamin charged that her husband's health was undermined by four years' work in the company plant and that he died Nov. 10, 1934, of silicosis and other diseases of the lungs and upper respiratory passages; ulcers and disease of the eyes; disease of the intestinal tract, diseases of the blood and general disability of the entire organism. She alleged that his death was result of poor working conditions and that the company failed to caution their workmen as to the danger of working in the dust-laden atmosphere; failed to provide them with respirators, goggles or other safety devices; failed to remove the fumes, gases and dust particles by any system of suction pipes; failed to supply fresh air; and gave no regulations or instructions to employes.

Benjamin, during most of his tenure of employment in the company plant, worked in grinding stone into lime, mixing the material with water and sacking the finished product. The widow's claim for compensation was denied by the industrial commission of Ohio upon the grounds that there was no evidence of wrongful injury, the petition set forth.

Paul D. Smith and Dr. Thomas H. Sutherland of Marion are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Walker Cup Golfer Uses Old Iron Club Bobby Jones Gave Him

Colorado Springs last summer and in 1934 when he took the national collegiate crown to Georgia Tech

Here's Charley Yates of Atlanta, a "freshman" member of the U. S. Walker cup forces with "ol' No. 7" his favorite weapon which was a gift from a fellow townsman Bob Jones

ATLANTA May 27 — Charley Yates successor to Bobby Jones as Atlanta's chief contribution to competitive golf campaigned right into the Walker cup competition with just a regular old set of clubs

And included among his golfing tools is a weapon he wouldn't part with for anything—a battle scarred No 7 iron a gift from the great Jones Yates idol and fellow member of famed East Lake

A young business man trying to keep ahead Yates often does his own caddying and that's one reason why he doesn't carry any more than once a month sticks—the kind that aren't called upon very often

But I reckon at that I have a club for every shot I know allows lisping Charley Ol' No 7 is the only club in Yates' bag that has a special name

Experts say Yates specialty is the short iron game pitching to the green from 110 to 150 yards and that's where Ol' No 7 comes in handy

The 7 iron was his mainstay as he swept through a field listing virtually all the amateur standouts except Lawson Little to win the western amateur crown at
